

"Flipping the Table"

February 6, 2020

Volume 2, Issue 2

A 250-Square-Foot Success Story

Greetings!

Today's Episode features Darryl and Melissa Burnette of Belle Harlem, a special restaurant in one of the hippest sections of Manhattan. In this conversation you'll hear how and why a classically-trained chef and his fashion-industry wife created a community restaurant that offers dinner-party-style meals in less than 250 square feet of space.

Upcoming Episodes

February 20th

Britt Wray, author of The Rise of the Necrofuana: The Science, Ethics and Risks of De-Extinction. We'll discuss her amazing book and the implications for food and farming.

March 5th

Kathleen Finlay, President of the Glynwood Center for Regional Food and Farming. You will hear her story and about her work to prepare a new generation of farmers.

March 19th

Dave Henson, Executive Director of the Occidental Arts and Ecology Center. A conversation about his journey of activism and how systems are changed.

Share this Newsletter with Your Network

Thank you for listening!

Michael Reid Dimock
Host of Flipping the Table
Sponsored by Roots of Change and the Public Health Institute

mail@rootsofchange.org | www.rootsofchange.org